Using playful learning to improve team performance and drive change

My expertise is helping teams to perform better together, make an impact and innovate when facing complexity and continuous change.

My approach combines the learning power of play and coaching techniques to conceive customized workgroups that respond to the strategic priorities of each organization and at the same time facilitate communication, collaboration, critical thinking and creative problem-solving.

My action: I transform meetings, training and seminars in the occasion to test and implement innovative solutions and effective behaviors for a multiple ROI in a long-term perspective :

- Ensuring team building, collaboration and vision alignment in particular in multicultural, cross-functional and intergenerational frame
- Fostering talents and collective intelligence
- Boosting participation, motivation and engagement to action
- Empowering strategical decision making and 'risks taking' attitude
- Improving a culture of innovation and flexibility

My ambition is to let people unleash their potential and achieve high performance joyfully.
For the organizations, it is a simple way to bring the key competencies and great fulfilment they need, to succeed in the digital and agile transformation.
